Koiwai is the language of primary identity for the people of Namatota, though not the first language (i.e. language first learned in life) of all Namatotans. All adult Namatotans speak Koiwai, even though a number of them speak languages of the islands to the west and south of Irian Jaya as their first languages. For this segment of the population, Koiwai may be the second, third, or fourth language which they have acquired. ...

- Walker 1982:79.

1. Koiwai is an Austronesian language spoken as the language of primary identity by approximately 600 speakers in the villages of Namatota, Waikala, Kayumerah, Keroi, Adijaya, Nasaulon, Baru and the town of Kaimana.
