[Anggi Lakes, 1957]

Indien men onder stam wil verstaan de volgens inheemse opvattingen grootst denkbare territoriale eenheid, gekenmerkt door een corps d'esprit, dan zijn er in het onderzochte gebied vier stammen duidelijk te onderscheiden: de Manikion, de Majach, de Hattam en de Moiree. ... Het Moiree's is voor de spreker van het Hattams gemakkelijk verstaanbaar. Beide verhouden zich vermoedelijk tot elkaar als dialekten van één taal. ... De verhouding tussen Manikion- en Mejach-taal is die van verre verwantschap. ...

- Pouwer 1958(1999):36.

Het mag als bekend worden verondersteld, dat de namen Arfak, Mansibabèr en Manikion (Windesisch: Mantion) ontleend zijn aan de Biaks-Noemfoorse taal. Zij betekenen resp. binnenlander (ten rechte: Fak), naakte mensen en bewoner (lett. leuner, steuner.) Het lijkt plausibel dat de term Atam (tegenwoordig Hattam) eveneens van Biakse herkomst is. Volgens het Noemfoors woordenboek van Van Hasselt betekent atam of atam: bladeren afdak op een prauw. ...

- Pouwer 1958(1999):42.

De inheemse benamingen voor de stammen lopen uiteen. De Hattam noemen zichzelf Me-Tenam, de Moiree noemen zij Me-rijéj -- kennelijk is het eerste woord een verbastering van het tweede --, de Mansibabèr oftewel Arfak noemen zij Me-jach en de Manikion Me-Soo(w). De Moiree bezigen voor zich zelf en de andere stammen dezelfde termen als de Hattam. De Manikion noemen zich Nèn Soo(w) d.i. Soo(w)-mensen, de Me-jach noemen zij Nèn Sona of Sana, de Moiree Nèn Sena en de Hattam Nèn Djom. De Mansibabèr of Arfak duiden zich zelf te Manokwari met Me-jach aan. Hun vertegenwoordiger te Manokwari Irogé verzocht althans in 1948 het Hoofd van Plaatselijk Bestuut te Manokwari K.W. Galis, om voortaan met Me-jach te worden aangeduid, en niet meer met Arfak, welke term door hem evenals door Lodewijk en Barend als een scheldnaam, met de gevoelswaarde van varken, zwijn, wordt beschouwd. Me-jach betekent waarschijnlijk mensen (me) van de Jach-rivier, een zijrivier van de Mei-jos (rivier), vlak ten noorden van het boven-Sibena-gebied. ... Vergelijking van onze gegevens met die van Bergh over Noord-Bintoeni leidde tot de verassende conclusie, dat de zogenaamde Me-jach een onderdeel vormen van een stam, welke leden de oostelijke Vogelkop bewonen zan zuid tot noord, meer gepreciseerd van tenminste Meninggo boven Arandai aan de Mai-jos (Mios) tot Pasit Poetih bij Manokwari. Deze stam bewoont de volgende gebieden:

1. die welke gelegen zijn vlak ten westen en ten oosten van de Mei-jos, welke rivier meer benedenstrooms Timavorro en Sebjar heet;
 2. het gebied ten noorden en zuiden van de Mei-jos, waar deze ombuigt naar het oosten, d.i. het boven-Sibena-gebied;
 3. het gebied, dat ten zuiden wordt begrensd door de Mei-jof of T(j)oehokko (Manikion), ten oosten door de nederzettingen Igèhinom (Manikion), Memnjerbi (gemengd), Mejerkwa en Meibtji, ten noorden en ten westen door de Mei-jos, d.i. het Sibena- of Oost-Mios-gebied;
 4. het gebied aan weerszijden van de Mei-jach;
 5. het Wasirawi-gebied;
 6. het boven-Wariori-gebied (gemengd met Hattam en Manikion) en het Warmomi-gebied;
 7. het gebied bij Pasir Poetih en Woisi aan de kust bij Manokwari (vroeger Mejach: Ajambori).

The [Meax] family has two member languages: Meax in the north, and Meni_go in the Steenkool area in the south. They share about 65% cognates. The two languages are separated by a large tract of rough mountain country, and it is possible that other languages belonging to the family are spoken in this area. The total number of speakers is about 4,000.

The Meax language is spoken in the eastern Kebar villages of Akrin and Pubuan. In earlier times the Meax people split off from the northern Moskona groups in the Central East Bird's Head, as we were informed by Meax informants, and part of them moved to the north until they reached East Kebar and the north coast ... Due to lack of information about the area south of the river Amnan ..., East Kebar has been regarded as the western border of the Meax language area.

In 1980 we visited a group of 68 people who had recently settled on the banks of the Anari river, just opposite one of its southern tributaries, called Apii. They call themselves Akari, after a tributary of the river Amnan from where they had fled at the end of 1979. They themselves called their language Etskebi. From what we managed to note about their dialect -- via two translators -- it seems that we deal with a Meax dialect, to be located more inland and westward (than) the already known Meax border. The reason why these Akari people had fled northward is that they were persuaded by the so-called Anason people, who are to be located south of the river Amnan. In Akuri we once happened to meet members of this Anason group. . .

In Akmuri and Asiti II in West Kebar another Meax dialect is spoken, called Miun. These Miun-speaking people originate from the southern mountains where the river Aimau splits upstream as the Amnan and northward as the Anari. The border between Miun and Anason is said to be a place called Mèsisi, somewhere between the Ayfat/Kamundan and the Aimau rivers to the south.

A comparison of Meax, Etskebi, Miun and Anason with Moskona seems to give evidence that we are dealing with five dialects of the same language.⁶ . . .

(MEAH)

The Meah people live in the eastern part of the Bird's Head, in the Manokwari district (kabupaten) of Irian Jaya, Indonesia. Besides the many villages in the highlands and valleys of the Arfak mountains, there are also numerous villages along the north coast of the Bird's Head bordering the Amerbaken language area to the west, and extending east as far as the regional center of Manokwari. ... There are an estimated 10,000 to 12,000 Meah, ...

- Gravelle 1990:126.

There are three dialects within the total Meah community. The first dialect area is generally around the Yoom area of the Arfak mountains. The second area is generally around the Meyes River area. The third area is from the North coast area around Sidei ... Within the Manokwari area all three dialects are well-represented, either within their original villages or the government relocation villages ... These boundaries are very arbitrary in that a mixture of differing dialects may be found within all three areas. The boundaries have more historical significance.

Other spellings and names for Meyah are: Meax, Meah, Meyaj, Mejach, Arfak, and Mansibaber, the latter being the Biak/Numfor name for the Meyah (Grimes 1988:496).

- Gravelle 1997:172.

The Meyah language is spoken by approximately 20,000 people. They live in traditional villages and government [organized population centers] along the coastal plains of the Northeast Bird's Head peninsula of Irian Jaya, including sections of the Amban peninsula in Manokwari, and in the northern and southern slopes of the Arfak mountains. Other names and spellings that have been used for Meyah are: Mansibaber³ (Wirz 1923), Meah, Meax and Meakh (Grimes 1984). . . .

Although there are several local varieties of Meyah spoken within the regions defined above, the only distinct dialect is Moskona. There are approximately 8,000 Moskona living on the lower slopes of the southern Arfak mountains. Meyah and Moskona have a 90% cognacy and a nearly identical grammar and phonology.

However vast differences in the pronunciation of words makes the two dialects mutually unintelligible (Gravelle 1999). The name Meyah is most likely derived from the Mpur (Kebar) word ma-ye 'those who are outside' (Odé 1999). Meyah and Moskona speakers do not generally refer to themselves by those respective names.

(MANSIBABER)

Der Stamm der MANSIBAB_R gehört zu der Gruppe der sog. Arfaker, wie man die Bewohner des gleichnamigen Gebirges im Nord-Westen von holländisch Neu-Guinea gewöhnlich zu nenne pflegt. Ihr Wohngebiet bildet das hügelige einer jungen geologischen Formation angehörige Hinterland der Doreh-Bucht mit folgenden Siedlungen: Pantš_ni, Wasir_wi, WarmOni, Indš_wi, Baumans_ri u.a.m. An der Küst selbst war dieser Stamm niemals ansässig gewesen und es wurde daher, wie man heute noch zu berichten weiss der Küstenstamm vor einigen Jahrhunderten an einige von der Insel Nufor ausgewanderte Nufor'sche Familien abgetreten nachdem diese bei den Mansibab_r die Erlaubniss zu dauernder Niederlassung eingeholt hatten. Erst in der jüngsten Zeit macht sich mehr und mehr ein Zuzug dieser Wald und Gebirgsbewohner nach der Küste zu bemerkbar, was vor allem den jüngsten Kolonisationsbestrebungen zu verdanken ist.

Die Sprache der Mansibab_r gleicht in ihrem grammatischen Bau vollständig dem Nuforesischen und gehört somit zur malayo-polynesischen Sprachfamilie.
