

TEHIT

(Kaibus of Tehid)

In het Kaiboese gebied is Werwar een kampong op zichzelf, de andere kampongs zijn weer samenvoegingen: Konda (het nieuwe nabij de kust, het oude lag hoger op, binnenwaarts, aan een kreek) is eene samenvoeging van het oude Konda met Semora, Bariat, Boeswanis, Knepfie, - Seffie van Mokrokolla, Ringdassie, Kehaksi en Kenakki; - Teminaboean van Wirimiet, Siribaoe, Wereserer en het oude Teminaboean. Wirimiet lag aan het andere zijriviertje, binnenwaarts, Wereserer halverwege Seremoek.

Tehit is spoken in the interior [of the West Bird's Head] north of Konda in at least eight villages. There is no information on dialects.

<sup>10</sup> Klabra (Kalabra) is regarded as a language, different from Tehit, by Voorhoeve (1975a) and Flassy and Stokhof (1979). However, the latter include a Khlabra dialect under Tehit, stating at the same time that the village listing for it is incomplete. This suggests the presence of a dialect chain between Tehit and Kalabra (Klabra), with the Khlabra dialect of Tehit an intermediate dialect between the two languages.

South West Bird's Head Family

TEHIT. Tehit has about 8,800 speakers ... around Teminabuan and north into the foothills. Tehit has at least three dialects each linked to each other. The people at Teminabuan report that there is one dialect which they call 'Tehit Gunung' while their dialect is called 'Tehit Pantai', making a mountain and coastal distinction. The people in the interior call their dialect Sawiat which is also the name of a group of six villages. The other dialect, Salmit is a dialect of Sawiat, but not of Tehijit as such. Lexically it is in the same subfamily as Tehit. Dialect chaining is evident here in the order - Tehijit - Sawiat - Salmit and from there carries on at the subfamily level to Kalabra and then at the family level to Moraid.

Tehit is spoken by approximately 8,500 people, the majority of whom live in the district of Teminabuan in the regency of Sorong in Irian Jaya, Indonesia. It is one of five Papuan (non-Austronesian) languages located in the western Bird's Head (Doberai) Peninsula ...

Tehit is composed of eight major dialects: Jit, Mbolfle, Saifi, Imyan, Sfaryere, Fkar, Sawiat, and Salmeit (Flassy and Stokhof 1979). The language exhibits extensive geographic lexical chaining among its 30 villages, with variance in lexical non-cognates reaching 40% between north and south or east and west boundary extremes ...
- Hesse 1995:101.

Tehit is spoken by approximately 12,000 people, who live mainly in the subdistricts of Teminabuan and Sawiat, about 100 kilometers southeast of the district capital, Sorong, in the western part of the Bird's Head peninsula of Papua (Irian Jaya). Tehit, together with Kalabra to the west and Moraid to the west and north, comprise the West Bird's Head Family, also known as the Toror language group (Voorhoeve 1975, Wurm and Hattori 1981, Silzer and Heikkinen 1984, Flassy 1991). Tehit is composed of eight major dialects: Jit, Mbol Fle, Saifi, Imian, Sfa Riere, Fkar, Sawiat, and Salmeit (Flassy and Stokhof 1979), which exhibit extensive geographic lexical chaining. ...

The Imyan people ..., numbering around two thousand, are speakers of the Imyan dialect of the Tehit language that is spoken throughout the north-western part of the administrative sub-district (kecamatan) of Teminabuan, ... The sub-district surrounds the Kaibus estuary and the Seremuk River and is situated in between the Klabra River to the west, the Waronge River to the east, the Seram Sea to the south and the Ayamaru Plateau to the north.

In the ethnographic literature, the indigenous people of Teminabuan are generally referred to as Tehit or speakers of Tehit. Most autochthonous Teminabuan people ... speak one or more of the dialects of the Tehit language ... The Imyan live in the villages of Sasenek and Sodrofoyo nestled in the lush green hills in the north-western part of the sub-district, and the villages of Woloin, Haha, and Tofot to the south. The southern villages are located near the swampy mangrove tidal flats along the headwaters of the Seremuk River. ...

- Timmer 2000:7.

The boundaries of the Tehit language coincide well with the sub-district boundaries. To all sides, there is an uninterrupted flow of population between Maybrat speakers to the north, Klabra speakers to the west, Moi speakers to the north-west, and Ogit or (Yabin-) Konda speakers to the east and south. ... Linguistically, Klabra is one of the dialects of Tehit and Imyan speakers recognise few cultural differences between themselves and people living in the Klabra River area. ...
